

Verasim Privacy Policy

We take our user's privacy very seriously. Many of our mobile applications utilize the camera for augmented reality. The camera feed is used to match what the camera sees with trigger images to see if there is a match. Under no circumstances does Verasim save any of this camera data for its own uses. In some cases, our apps allow you to capture screenshots of this augmented reality. This data is saved on your device and can only be shared by you, the user, specifically sending the captured images out via text, email, or social media. You can contact us at support@verasim.com with any questions or concerns about our applications or this policy.
